TO IMPROVE THE SYSTEM OF FINANCE

PLANS WILL BE CONSIDERED AT INDIANAPOLIS CONVENTION

MORE THAN 600 REPRESENTATIVE BUSINESS MEN AND BANKERS FROM ALL OVER COUNTRY IN ATTENDANCE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 22.—Delegates for the improvement of the national monetary system are expected to be formulated as a result of the first annual convention of the National Citizens' League, which opened here this afternoon.

The object of the convention, which is being attended by 600 representative business men and bankers from all parts of the United States, is to inaugurate a movement that is to be rapidly enlarged in scope and importance and will ultimately result in the enactment of federal legislation looking to the elimination of the numerous defects in the present system of finance.

Addresses and suggestions will be made during the course of the meeting as to the best possible ways and means of bringing about the following conditions:

Co-operation, not dominant centralization, of all banks by an evolution of their clearing house experience.

Protection of the credit system of the country from the domination of any group of political or financial interests.

Independence of the individual banks, national or state, and uniform treatment in discounts and rates to all banks, large or small.

Provision for making liquid the sound commercial paper of all the banks, either in the form of credits or bank notes redeemable in gold or lawful money.

Elasticity of currency and credit in times of seasonal demands and stringencies, with full protection against over-expansion.

Legislation of acceptance of time bills of exchange, in order to create a discount market at home and abroad.

The organization of better banking facilities with other countries, to aid in the extension of our foreign trade.

INTEREST IN GOOD ROADS

STATE IN FUTURE CONVENTION

REPORT ROAD BETWEEN ST. AUGUSTINE AND DAYTONA IN FAIR SHAPE EXCEPT FOR THREE BAD HOLES.

With the determined intention of creating sentiment and interest in the construction of the State Good Roads association, which will be held in Ocala next week Tuesday and Wednesday, H. E. Richardson, secretary of the Jacksonville board of trade, and F. Q. Miller, chairman of the good roads committee of that organization, arrived in Daytona by automobile last night and remained here until this morning.

From Daytona, which is traveling in a special Cadillac automobile, west to New Smyrna, and from that place will continue the trip through the state.

Mr. Richardson and Mr. Miller arrived in Daytona this morning and will spend the trip through the state, stopping some time in St. Augustine. They found the roads fairly good all the way, but report three very bad places in St. Johns county, about 12 and 15 miles south of St. Augustine, where almost bottomless holes have apparently resulted from erosion from the St. Johns county canal system.

At St. Augustine the good roads car found several automobile parties waiting to come to Daytona held up because of the condition of the roads south of the Ancient City.

They had all been advised not to attempt the journey but one of the men followed the good roads car out of the Ancient City to Daytona. The car got stuck a couple of times and had to be pulled out of the bog holes by the good roads car, but managed to complete the journey to Daytona.

The big Cadillac car in which Messrs. Richardson and Miller are making the trip through the state is only decorated with banners announcing the object of the trip and the men are distributing handbills calling the attention of the citizens to the state convention next week.

They are taking this opportunity to impress upon the people of the state of Florida the absolute necessity of good roads through all parts of the state, and the fact that these roads can not be built without the hearty cooperation of all the people in the state. They are taking what time they can to explain the need of proper highways to obtain the agricultural development to which the state, with its great resources, is entitled.

Interest in this movement is confined to no particular section, but extends to all parts of the state and indications are there will be a large attendance at the convention at Ocala next week. Messrs. Richardson and Miller have been given assurances of a large attendance from East Coast sections.

The good roads movement has come to Florida to stay and the gathering at Ocala next week is just a forerunner of greater gatherings which are to be held at various points in the state later. The people of this great state are awakening to the fact that good roads are the most needed improvements needed and this is the one great reason for the expansion movement.

CARNIVAL ATTRACTIONS WILL BE IN DAYTONA NEXT WEEK

JOHNNY JONES COMPANY TO BE HERE WITH GOOD LINE OF SHOWS TO AMUSE THE PEOPLE FOR A SOLID WEEK.

The Johnny Jones carnival, in all its glory and with its varied attractions to amuse the public, will be the big attraction in Daytona all next week, coming here by special train over the Florida East Coast railroad from Miami. Carnival week will be the big time of the year for the people of Daytona.

The shows in all are clean, lively and interesting and worth while in all their details. The wild animal exhibition is unusually fine, there being trained and performing lions and other thrilling features and stunts. In one of the shows the diving girls perform acts that catch the fancy and win the admiration of all who see them. In another test the trained fleas are as lively as the ones some people see at home and are even more proficient in showing off their tricks. There are the fat and slim ladies, and the skinny man who lives on cigars. The negro comedians and the two places of illusion, where one doesn't know exactly where he is at, are worth visiting to find out.

The various attractions will be located on the city park along Beach street on the river front from Volusia avenue to the city dock south of Orange avenue. There will be two bands of music and a number of free attractions and the fun will be continuous every day from early afternoon until late in the evening.

OFFICIALS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

NAME OF FATHER OF COUNTRY TO BE RECALLED AT BANQUET

HEADS OF GOVERNMENT AS WELL AS OFFICERS OF ARMY AND NAVY TO BE PRESENT AT DINNER TONIGHT.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The anniversary of the birth of the father of our country will be fittingly celebrated here tonight, when the most prominent officials of the government, together with the highest officers of the army and navy will attend the annual banquet of the Navy league, the biggest feature of the annual convention which is now in session.

Tonight's banquet will be the occasion of the first public appearance of W. Morgan Shuster, former treasurer-general of Persia, since his recent return to this country, and, although no hint has been given as to just what the nature of Shuster's address will be, it is expected that he will relate the details of his stormy career in Persia and his controversy with the Russian government.

Among those who will sit at the speaker's table, besides Mr. Shuster are Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Major-General Leonard Wood, Rear-Admiral Richard Wainwright, former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, Representative William Sulzer, Representative William Humphrey, former Ambassador Henry White, and former Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson.

Another unique feature of the league's convention will be a peace meeting which is to be held tomorrow night in Continental Memorial hall. The committee in charge of the arrangements for this gathering includes Admiral George Dewey, General Horace Foster and Colonel Robert M. Thomson. The committee has selected President Taft, Rear-Admiral Wainwright and Charles Francis Adams of Boston, as the principal speakers of the meeting.

The committee in charge insists that no organization has better right or is more appropriately adapted to hold a peace meeting than the Navy league, and backs up its assertion with a quotation in a prominent place in the program which reads: "Adequate armament and effective arbitration are correlative agencies for national security and international peace and justice."

WEDDING AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH PARSONAGE TUESDAY

The couple came to this city by automobile from Port Orange, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Lyon of that village, who acted as best man and matron of honor. Following the wedding the party dined here, the bride couple leaving later by train for a few days' visit at Palm Beach, after which they will return to Port Orange for the balance of the season. Mr. Brittenhelm is a member of the firm of Brittenhelm Brothers, merchants of Walton, Ky., and the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones of that city.

JUST GOSSIP
BY THE GOSSIPER.
As an illustration of the old saying that the American public likes to be fooled, the Daily News quotes the following part of a letter received recently:
"With my brother, S. N. Hess, of Brooklyn, I came here from Albany, N. Y., and rented a bungalow at 212 Loomis avenue. We prepared a wooden sign like this:
CROSSBERRY TREE
The Only One in Florida.
Over 400 Years Old.
and nailed it to a tree on the corner of Loomis and Ridgewood avenues opposite our bungalow.
"It is amusing to see the number of tourists who walk along Ridgewood avenue and stop at the tree, read the sign, look up with open mouths in amazement, then deliberately pull out a penknife and chip a piece of bark from the tree as a souvenir. We sit on our porch with aching sides from laughter, for the tree is nothing more than a live oak, the same as hundreds of others about town. The tree bears unmistakable evidence of the souvenirs having been cut from it.
"Very truly yours,
"ABE N. HESS."

AN AGED EGG.
Mrs Kidder—I wonder how Columbus made the egg stand on end?
Kidder—Easy. He shook it around until he had the chicken's feet in the big end of the egg, and then stood him on them.
Knows Value of Good Roads.
England spends nine million dollars a year to maintain her public roads.

LOGICAL CONCLUSION.

"Beware, my son, of loose methods. Do you know how they generate?"
"No, sir; how?"
"In tight places."

Strive Always for Higher Things.
Sad will be the day for any man when he becomes contented with the thoughts he is thinking and the deeds he is doing—when there is no longer beating at the doors of his soul some great desire to do something larger which he knows that he was meant and made to do.—Phillips Brooks.

It Would Come Back.
Lady—"Yes, I've an umbrella that needs mending, but how am I to know that you will bring it back?" Umbrella Mender—"Have no fear, mum. I allus charges more for mendin' than I could sell the umbrella for."

Finesse.
"How did you get old Bunkins' consent to marry his daughter?" "Finesse, my boy—just finesse. I told all over town that he had caught seventeen four-pound bass on that last fishing trip he took."

A Destructive Success.
"What has become of that man who said Mars is habitable?" "He made the mistake of convincing too many people. There wasn't enough skepticism to keep up a fairly interesting controversy."

PERSIAN BAZAARS

Curious Business Methods of the Oriental Shopkeepers.

HAVE NO GENERAL STORES.

One Merchant Will Sell Only Mustard. Another Nothing but Silk. Another Spices, and the On-Water is Difficult to Obtain and is Very Expensive.

One curious thing about the bazaars of Persia, writes Mrs. Mary A. C. Colquhoun in the Los Angeles Times, is the fact that all the shops of one kind are grouped together, and so we speak of the "silk bazaar," the "hat bazaar," the "spice bazaar." There are both wholesale and retail shops, but there are no department stores as in America, nor is there such a thing as a general grocery or dry goods store.

One grocer keeps spices only, another tea, coffee, sugar, etc.; one dry goods merchant will sell you muslin, another breadcloth, another silk. There are no large manufacturing in Persia. It is common to have a small factory and a shop together or side by side.

All the metal utensils used in the country are made of either brass or copper. These substances are hammered into shape. A stroll through the bazaar where this work is going on gives one the impression that pandemonium has broken loose.

Different kinds of bread are made in the bazaar. One kind which is especially liked by the people and which can be obtained fresh at almost every hour of the day is called "nand-warek," literally little stone bread. It is made by pouring the dough on very hot pebbles, which take it quickly and give it a crisp crust. Of course it is thin, not more than a quarter of an inch in thickness. The sheet is about a foot and a half wide by two and a half long.

Near the bazaar where this bread is baked you will usually find a place where mutton chops are being cooked on skewers over a charcoal fire. Any one desiring a lunch will buy from the baker a sheet of the thin, crisp, freshly baked bread, then a few "kabobs," as the chops are called. Wrapping the chops in the bread, he will proceed on his way, eating his lunch as he goes.

As you walk through the bazaars or stand to examine or purchase goods, especially if you are a foreigner, you must expect to be jostled, not only by crowds of curious pedestrians, but also by caravans of horses and donkeys and even of vicious camels. You will perhaps have to wait also for the shopkeeper to finish his prayer.

Foreigners usually go to the bazaars not to purchase things, but to see oriental life, and in the bazaars are to be seen many interesting phases of it. When you really wish to buy something you will find the peddler, that supreme nuisance of America, your best friend. He will bring to your door everything that you wish to see and give you all the time that you desire in which to examine it.

You must needs be a happier to deal with any merchant in Persia, but usually you can make a better bargain in the quiet of your own home than you can make in the bazaar.

Save for one month in the year the bazaars, even in the capital of 500,000 people, are never open at night. During the month when the Persians fast all day it is customary to do some merrymaking, some business and much visiting at night. Then the food bazaars, tea shops and so forth are open. Pedestrians with huge lanterns of oiled paper and people in carriages give an appearance of life and gaiety to the streets which is quite unknown at other times.

Many occupations which in western lands are carried on in shops are in Persia carried on in the open air. This is due partly to the poverty of the people, partly to the warmth of the climate, partly to the fact that the Persians are pre-eminently a social being and with the exception of his domestic life, which is lived in great seclusion behind high walls—he likes to be with his fellow men.

The bazaar, for example, seldom has a shop and never really needs one. At any street corner you are likely to stumble over a man sitting on a wedge of the wall and being shaved or having his hair cut. It is your one opportunity for seeing a man with his hat off, but as you look at his tattered pate you do not regret that your opportunities in this direction are limited.

The only things that are free in Persia are air and sunshine. Water—not only in the cities, but everywhere—is one of the most expensive commodities and one of the most difficult to obtain. The entire water supply of Teheran comes from the snow on the mountains north of the city. It is brought for a distance of many miles in underground watercourses. There are thirty-four such channels which enter the city.

At various places as they pass along there are openings into these. Through these openings the water is dipped up with a leathery bucket and poured into a goatskin bag, which is slung over the shoulder of the private servant or the professional water carrier. Nothing is more common in the street than a sight of one of these carriers.

Recreation.
He—My dear, you spend too much money in false hair. Look at your puffs. She—And you spend too much in cigars. Look at your puffs—Baltimore American.

There is no happiness like that which comes from doing our level best every day.

Hardest Kind of Work.
"I want you to understand that I got my money by hard work." "Why, I thought it was left you by your uncle." "So it was, but I had hard work getting it away from the lawyers."

Slight Misunderstanding.
Mrs. Oldtimer—"When we were in Egypt we visited the pyramids. They were just covered with hieroglyphics." Mrs. Newrich—"Horror! Were you afraid that some of the ugly things would get on you?"

PETE BROWNING'S DATE.

They Still Burned the Old Slaves After the Civil War.

One of the oddest and most eccentric characters that ever lived was old Pete Browning, the famous singer, who played with Lockhart around the eighteen and later joined the Cleveland club in 1890 during the Reconstruction war.

Pete was a little off in his head and had a way of his own in his head day or night. Anything that concerned his precious hitting average was most and drink to him. It made no difference how many fly balls he dropped or let get by him as long as he landed two or three safe ones during a game.

There were a number with Browning, and whenever he could pick up a club which suited him it was added to his collection. So many were gathered at various points on some of his trips that he sometimes was forced to pay extra baggage on the train.

According to Van Station, it was Browning who introduced the habit of rubbing down a bat with tobacco juice, which custom is followed to this day by many of the players. The idea is to roughen the surface of the stick and prevent so many fouls slipping off one side or the other.

Browning, who was a great user of the weed, used to polish down his sticks in this way without any apparent reason until he commenced to believe that it made a difference with his hitting, and after that no wagon tongue of his ever escaped a coating of the obnoxious fluid.

Other players took it up in the hope of emulating Browning, and now it is a common custom throughout the country. When Pete retired from the game all the bats, relics of former days, were still in his possession. In order to keep them always in his sight Pete had them turned down to a uniform size and used them as posts for the baluster in his house.

To the day of his death they remained the most valued of his possessions. —New York World.

ENGLISHMEN'S GAMES.

Quaint Hindu View of the Sporting and Kicking of Balls.

Some amusing descriptions of East Indian life are given in Mrs. Penny's book, "The Rajah." Here is a Hindu servant's opinion of the English devotion to ball games, given to four rulers—princes—whom he was trying to enlighten:

"The English," he said, "all play ball. Some beat balls with iron shod sticks, standing in the fields and striking with sufficient force to break a man's skull; some beat the ball with a long bit of wood in front of three sticks that represent their gods, some with corded spools over a net wall, some with long handed hammers as they sit on a corner; some kick the ball with their feet. The balls are of all sizes from a small orange to a man's head."

"By whose orders do they kick and beat balls?" he was asked.

"By order of their popas," the grey replied, "and he must know, because he serves the writing shah."

"Why should such an order be given?" asked the second ruler.

"They are a fierce and warlike people, those English, who must be always fighting and beating some one. It is by this means only that they are prevented from killing each other."

"But the Middle Sahib—would she, too, beat and fight?"

"She is strong. Who knows? At Bombay and Calcutta the English ladies beat balls over the wall of net. They do it that they may bear children fierce and strong like their fathers. When the babies are but a few months old they give them balls to beat with their little hands and to creep after as soon as they can move by themselves."

A Quaker Monument.

A monument erected in the Stratford cemetery has a very curious history. It is that of an old woman of Genoa, who made a living by selling strings of nuts in the streets. By frugality and industry she succeeded in amassing a small fortune in this way and then commissioned a well known sculptor of Genoa, Luigi Orsini, to make a life sized portrait of her in marble just as she appeared at her pitch in the streets. This statue she ordered to be placed in the famous Stratford cemetery, probably the largest in the world—Wide World Magazine.

Sweet and Hard.

The Royal band was playing for the king, Louis XIV, the "Miserere of Lully." The king was on his knees and so was the whole court. His majesty kept the awkward attitude until the end of the hymn. After rising, the king turned to the Count de Grammont and asked how he found the music. "Very sweet to the ear, sire, but very hard on the knees."

Dogs Know.

"I don't know why it is that whenever I pass a place where a dog is kept the animal rushes out and barks at me as if I had no right to be on earth. Others can pass the same place and never be molested."

A Frightful Thought.

Mrs. Wayback (on first ocean voyage)—John, I just heard a man say that if this boat was put up on end it would be higher than the Washington monument. If they're going to do anything like that we'd better get right off—Fort.

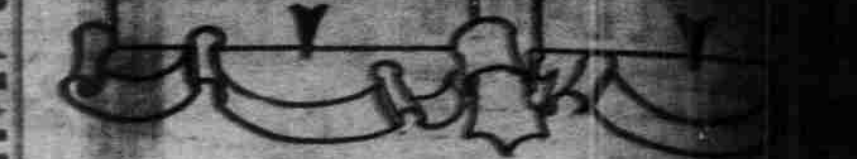

Wanted 'Em Back.

"Our engagement is at an end. Leave my presence at once, sir, and forever!" said the angry maiden, stamping her foot. "Oh, very well," answered the young man, calmly. "I'll gladly leave your presence, but I shall take my presents with me."

Scientific Disillusionment.

One of those scientists claims he is now able to prove that Eve was not a beauty. The next scientist will probably try to prove that Adam married her for her money.

Price of Health. To judge by letters received from correspondents, the average person does not really want to be cured. He only wants relief, which is quite a different thing. Or, at least, if he does want to be cured, he is seldom willing to pay the price—not in money, that is trifling, but the price in patience and perseverance and self-control.—Los Angeles Times.

Stopped Waste of Water. Water-waste detection has been made a science by the present city engineer of London. By its application he has reduced the daily consumption ten gallons per head of population. This saving is simply enormous. In East London alone it is enough water to meet the wants of a city of 400,000 inhabitants.

Speeding the Guest. The hostess was so weary, after an inordinately long call from a bore, that when he at last rose to go she was almost incapable of coherent speech, and her words in consequence changed places in her final effort at hospitality. It ran as follows: "Oh, Mr. Peters, must you stay? Can't you go?"

Worst Thing About Them. Conceited people would not necessarily be obnoxious if they would only quit trying to take the conceit out of others.

ORMOND

ORMOND, Feb. 23—The enlarged golf links are certainly being well patronized. Some well known professionals are here, among whom are G. W. Travis, Gil Nichols, A. Sandley and A. McLeod.

Some of the smaller boys of the town (ages 10 to about 14) organized some time ago, what they term the "P. C. Club," with headquarters on the peninsula back of R. R. Kimball's property, he having allowed them the grounds on which they erected their little club building, with a seating capacity of about 25, and in this rustic little building out in the woods these little chaps hold their club meetings every Saturday, conducted the same as "grown-ups," having their constitution, by-laws, etc. Yesterday was their Reciprocity day and at which they had quite a few visitors. Before leaving the visitors were served with refreshments.

Preparations for Shocks. For most of the wrenches and jolts of life there are, happily, conditions which alleviate what would otherwise seem unbearable, conditions which soften and break the most cruel shocks. Death, for instance, the greatest shock of all, unless it is very sudden, seldom comes as an unbearable wrench, because weakness or suffering has prepared us for it.

More Than One. The bald man rushed into the shop, hopped into a chair and roared: "I want a haircut." The astonished barber meditated for a moment and then, picking up the scissors, with an inspiration, meekly inquired: "Which one, sir?"

ASPARAGUS INJURIOUS TO KIDNEYS.

A writer in the London Lancet (May 5) says that there is no good ground for the objection to asparagus as a food, that while it contributes to the uric acid in the system, thus tending to produce or aggravate rheumatic conditions, it is, as is popularly supposed, a mild stimulant to the kidneys and should not, therefore, be excluded from the list of foods. I have advised against the use of asparagus and can see no reason for changing that advice. There is no element of nutrition in asparagus which may not be better obtained from other foods and experiments have led to the conclusion that it is injurious, especially to those predisposed to rheumatism or any kidney disease.

THIRD PARTY NOW EXPECTED TO SPRING UP IN CAMPAIGN
POLITICIANS LOOK FOR PROGRESSIVES OF TWO OLD PARTIES TO RALLY ROUND A NEW STANDARD.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Once more the country is told that a third party will come into existence before the November election.
It is true for 30 years this speculation has gone up before the coming conventions of the two big parties and twice the alarm did not prove to be false. But this year there seems to be more basis for the proposed "middle-of-the-road" party than ordinarily, even though the reasons offered are open to attack.
A third party, it is now pointed out, might succeed in rallying to its standard the progressives of both of the old line parties. This idea, of course, is conceived upon the presumption that the progressives will be routed both at Chicago and at Baltimore.

A Bryan-Roosevelt-La Follette combination would at least be a spectacle that would hold the attention of the country, even though it might fail to secure a majority of the votes. It would make the business "resound" and would remind the political observer of the days when populism had its sway and when the people turned to it for their panaceas.
Conditions just now in both of the old parties do point to some revolutionary move. It would be foolish to deny the fact. These conditions are the result of the victory of conservatism over progressivism in the revolutionary boom. This is just as true of the democratic party as it is of the republican.

SALE OF FANCY ARTICLES FOR COLORED KINDERGARTENS
The sale of fancy articles and light refreshments at the Palmerton club house Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Philanthropic department of the Palmerton club, was for the benefit of the colored kindergartens of Midway and Waycross, and not for the Industrial School for Negro Girls, as was stated in Wednesday's issue of the Daily News. The mistake occurred through the impression which is quite general, that the kindergartens are connected with the industrial school. It seems, however, that they are entirely separate from that institution and cover a very worthy field. Of the amount raised Tuesday, about $85 was actual receipts of the entertainment and the balance was donations from friends of the work.

HOW BETHLEHEM WAS NAMED
Pretty Story of the Origin of the Pennsylvania City. Now Industrial Center.

It was not until the center of missionary enterprise and social service should have the name of the birthplace of the Christ. But the name was given in order doubly fitting auspices. In December, 1741, Count Zinzendorf, the friend and protector of the Moravians in Saxony, came to visit them. The original log dwelling sheltered both the people and the cattle. It was in this house that they were singing on Christmas eve. Suddenly Count Zinzendorf arose and led the way past the partition to the part where the cattle were stabled and there around the managers they sang Christmas songs. After that they could think of no name quite so fitting as Bethlehem.
But in spite of church institutions Bethlehem is no longer a religious community. It is industrial. With the coming of industry have come conditions of which David Nitzschmann, founder of Bethlehem, never dreamed.
It wasn't an example of the old brotherhood when in 1893, five men were discharged because they had signed a petition to the management of the Bethlehem Steel corporation asking for the elimination of Sunday work. It wasn't an example of brotherhood when in 1919 another man was discharged for availing Sunday work, and then three more because they served on a committee that protested against this man's discharge.—John A. Fitch, in The Survey.

THEY HAD PLenty OF CLUBS
Postmaster of Cherrydale Village Names Over Its Various Organizations for the Stranger.
"I suppose that your town is almost too small for the club movement to have affected it much. A town of only eight hundred inhabitants seldom has many clubs, I believe," said the stranger within the gates of Cherrydale to the postmaster.
"Well, we ain't clubbed to death as some places seem to be, but when you come to count 'em up we got considerable many clubs for a town of our size. We got a Woman's Club of two hundred members, an Village Improvement Club, an Ladies Social Club, an Friday Afternoon Club, an a big Choral Club, an a Current Events Club, an a Library Club, an a Dikens Club, an a Thought an' Work Club, an a Art Club, an a mixed club that calls itself the Progress Club, an a Dancing Club, an five whist clubs an a Bridge Club, an a Saturday Night Club. Then the W. C. T. U., an the Odd Fellows, an the masons, an Knights of Pythias, an the D. A. R., an the G. A. R., an the Ancient Order of Hibernians, an the Eastern Stars, an the Sons of Temperance an the Christian Endeavorers all have societies here, an they are tryin' to start a Y. M. C. A., an a Y. W. C. A. Then with the Grange, an the Boys' Brigade, an five churches, an some Boy Scouts, an a Land a Hand Society, an a Handicraft Society, an the Good Samaritans, an the Helpers' Guild, we got considerable many clubs, after all. Each of 'em has a fair an a couple of entertainments a year, so there's something goin' on a good deal of the club time, even if the club movement ain't hit us very hard yet."—Judge.
